GUERRIER! THE PERFECT IMPERFECTION

JOEL ROBINSON

Joel Robinson is a 23-year-old aspiring author who wants to write books and create stories that people will enjoy. He grew up in Upstate New York and was fed a steady diet of comic books, movies, video games, mythology, and books.

Guerrier: The Perfect Imperfection

"Guerrier: The Perfect Imperfection" is the opening narrative of the "Trilogy of Reimagined Fables Anthology," a collection that offers a fresh perspective on classic tales. This anthology's first story unveils the previously untold saga of Guerrier, set in a realm where fables are not merely legends but integral parts of history itself. Follow Guerrier from his early days as a young hunter and soldier facing a myriad of beasts through his journey from well-told stories to a pivotal battle to protect the life of a young farm girl. The story culminates with Guerrier as an elderly man, reflecting on a life lived fully, marked by both triumphs and trials, ultimately showcasing the depth of his character and the complexities of his adventures.

The Trilogy Of Reimagined Fables Anthology

The two accompanying fables in this trilogy will feature an on-the-run Moryanna from Russia, who is simply trying to survive until she can reach her only chance for freedom and survival - The SEA. The third tale unfolds in an enthralling forest of towering beanstalks, where Jack finds himself ensnared alongside a mysterious creature. It quickly becomes clear that outsmarting the enigmatic Rumpelstiltskin will demand more than mere cunning; It will demand his utmost ingenuity and courage at every turn.
